The Interest Question. The Fairmont Index says:

The lader is of the opinion that The rate of interest is the moth at is eating up the industry of the easty. Six per cent is at most as much any legitimate business can stand, but farmer makes that much on the pital employed in his farm, his stock the interest and the standard of the company of the standard of the sta of himself and family? The mers and mechanics, who produce the hith of the country, are eaten up by money-changers, who do not add a riche to its wealth. The Jows made meelves odious to all Christendom. The Shylocks of the present day may meet with the same fate. As we have said, 6 per cent is as high, if not a higher, rate of interest than can be endured."

There is only a limited amount of truth h" that eats up a good many people nong illegitimate borrower serrowers. For Instance n Marion county, where the Index is the town of Fairmont, yields more money than the judgeship of the Circuit Court, more such "moths" there are in Marion ting, but we commend the investigation of the subject to the editor of the lader. We have given him a point or eracy of the West Virginia Legislature charge, so loudly vannted in their public They have had a committee interviewing the Auditor and his chief clerk on the subject, and the result of their conferen ces has been a decision to let the matter drop. The statements from the records made in our columns by ex-Treasurer Hildreth and others were too plain. There was no ground left to stand on The Auditor of West Virginia and his chief clerk know that there is no deficit, and they will not come out in print and say that there is, and still less will they come into court and make oath to any Thus falls to the ground the pretty little piece of political capital that the year's compaign as an offset to the mess urer. They have been invited time and again to investigate their charge of a deficit in the State Treasury under Republican rule, but never dared to do so, and now after sending out a smelling committee as skirmishers have concluded not to face a contest but to beat a retreat.

Blaine as a Candidate.

A Washington special to the Cincinnati the President heard of Blaine's refusal to vote on the third-term question he simply observed that "Blaine is not in anybody" way, so he need not be so d-d careful." mmercial comments on Blaine's plant. He avowedly dodged the on the third-term resolution, ex-ing "that he could not vote either one on the third-term resolution, expensions of that he could not vote either way without appearing, in the one case to be ambitions of being Girani's successor, and in the order of diapleasing his friends." This ought to "establish" a poiat or two. In the first place, it is a clear indication of Blaine's knowledge that Grant is for a third term, and would make war upon all who are against him. The fact is patent. Blaine are upon it. But Blaine's Presidential ambition worries him. He is too sensitive. It happened that he did not make his appearance in Ohlo during the rag-baby fight. Good bye Blaine.

THE Democratic Executive Committee of West Virginia now boasts, according to the titles given them in the Weston Democrat, three Confederate Colonels, viz.: Colonel Alexander Campbell, chairman, Colonel W. P. Thompson and Colonel David Goff. How many of the rest were privates in the Confederate army we are not able to say.

The passage by the House on Saturday of Senate Bill 182, making provision for elections by the people and for filling vacancies in the office of Supreme Judge o the Court of Appeals was, not effected without strong opposition. It will be recollected that the office made vacant by the death of the late Judge Paull has not been filled because the Governor was in doubt as to the true interpretation of the Constitution. In relation to this point, as in every other important matter, the present Constitution is such a bund le of mperfections and blunders that it has en impossible to understand its provisions or to act intelligently under it. The Governor therefore refused to take any steps in the matter of filling vacancies unpretation on the clause of the Constitution in relation thereto as should enable him to act in accordance with the will of the people as expressed by their repre-

The Constitution provides clearly enough that where a vacancy occurs in which there is less than two years of the term for which the Judge was elected yet to expire, the Governor by and with the consent of the Senate if it be in session may by appointment fill the vacancy, but if the unexpired portion of the term should be more than two years, it provides that the Governor shall issue a writ of election to the Sheriffs of the different

Right here it fails to provide any time at which such election shall be held, does not signify whether the writs shall be for a special election or whether the vacancy shall be filled at a general election. The of the framers of the Constitution and not willing to incur the cost of the special election unless clearly authorized so to the wisdom of the Legislature. Hence the bill which has been under consideration and which passed the Legislature. The terms of this bill make it the duty of the Governor to issue his writ to take effect at a general election, and in the invacancy and the election, to fill it by appointment with the consent of the Sen ate, if that body be in session.

In the consideration of the bill. Mr.

Jackson took the ground that the bill was unconstitutional so far as it related mixed in its basis of fact. The people to the appointment of a Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals. "The bill, he said, authorizes the Governor to appoint by and with the consent of the Senate, if it be in sessioh, until a general election. The Constitution gives the Governor five days in which to signify his approval or disap-West Virginia, is preying upon the proval of the bill. By that time there will be no Senate in session, and then he can make a nomination subject to the approval of the Senate a year hence. Are you by the passage of this bill going to empower the Governor to put upon the Supreme Bench a person who may be rethe justices, out of court, will reach above | jected by the Senate? After a careful exunination of the Constitution, I have not found in it any power conferred on the that the office of Justice of the Peace, in Governor to make such an appointmen except that the unexpired portion of the term be less than two years. It is for the where, either in terms or by implication, is the appointing power conferred on the Governor. This bill gives power to the Governor to foist upon the people a man who will be so obnoxious to the people that the Senate will be compelled to re fuse to confirm him as wholly unfit to hold this supreme position." Mr. Jackson was followed by Mr. Ice who said: "I did not intend to vote for this bill until I had satisfied myself of press, of a "radical steal" of $38,000. its constitutionality. To determine its constitutionality it becomes necessary to ascertain the motives of the convention which framed the constitution. It could not have contemplated that when a vacancy occurs it should continue, nor did tintend that the people should be involved in the expense of a special election. It is true we have no right to look into the matter of expense when considering a provision of law, but it is clear to my mind that the convention did not intend to saddle upon the people the great expense necessarily incident to special elections. The case comes clearly under the provision for general elections, and as clearly provides for the filling of vacancies by appointment under the gen eral law. If the vacancy had been less than two years the Governor would have filled it by appointment, but being for a greater period than two years, it becomes his duty at the next general election to notify the people that a vacancy exists which he has temporarily filled by appointment, but which they must now fill by election. "A special election is nowhere provided for, therefore it is reasonable to infer that the Convention did not intend to incur the expense of a special election, and yet it must have been intended that the racancies should be filled, and the only way left by which they can be filled is by appointment subject to the provisions of the Constitution," Mr. Miller said he would content him-

Mr. Miller said ne would content miles with an explanation of his vote. He would say that so far as his section of the country was concerned, if there was no bill passed there were many cases in the courts that would suffer, but nevertheless after thorough investigation he had come to the conclusion that the appointment by the Governor of this judicial officer would lead to disastrous consequences, because if the appointment of such Judge is illegal all the decisions rendered by him would be illegal.

sequences, because if the appointment of such Judge is illegal all the decisions rendered by him would be illegal. Notwithstanding the objections of Mesars Jackson and Miller, quoted above, the bill giving the Governor the power to fill vacancies on the Supreme Bench passed the House by a decided majority.

the bill giving the Governor the power to fill vacancies on the Supreme Bench passed the House by a decided majority.

The Charleston Journal (Rep.) has a good word to say for Senator Dennis of Greenbrier as a prospective Democratic Candidate for Governor. It says that.

If we are to have a Democratic in either position, which we trust will not be the case, give us Captain Dennis in prefernce to any other man in their party.

Sr. Louis, December 18.—Between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning, the U. S. Express car on the St. Louis, Kanasa City & Northern train due here at 61:5, was entered between Ferguson and Jennings' Station, some 10 or 12 miles from here. The messenger, Charles Kineaid, was thrown into a large packing cheat and locked up, and the safe robbed of from $10,000 to $20,000 in money and bonds. Kincaid says he was lying on one of the packing boxes in the corner half saleep, when he felt a heavy hand on his shouler. He turned his head around and was confronted by a pistol in the hands of a

er. He turned his head around and was confronted by a pistol in the hands of a masked man. Before he could speak he was seized by the collar of the coat from behind and found himself under the cover of two more pistols in the hands of another masked man. He was then thrust into a large packing box, which had been emptied of its contents by the robbers, and the lid closed on him and locked. He does not know what occurred after that until the train reached St. Louis and he was released, except that he heard the men working at the safe and supposed they were robbing it. He says the doors of the car, besides being locked with the ordinary snap lock, are secured by chains

they were robbing it. He says the doors of the car, besides being locked with the ordinary snap lock, are secured by chains fastened loosely on the inside so they can be opened a few inches, but are still so secure that nobody can enter the car. Kincaid on taking charge of the car at Kansas City observed that one of the staples on the rear door had been drawn out, and that the chain on that door was useless. After leaving Mexico the messenger has nothing to do and generally takes short naps on that end of the route. When Kincaid laid down on the package box he took the precaution to place his heaviest trunk, weighing about 150 pounds, against the door, so even if it were unlocked from the outside it could not be opened without pushing this trunk away. This was done, but so noiselessly that the messenger in lais half asleep condition did not hear it. On the arrival of the train here he was released from his confinement in a nearly smothered condition. The car was in pretty good order, only a few packages scattered about, but the safe was rifled of all valuables. Kincaid can give but a very meagre description of the robbers and the detectives here have, so far, very little information to work on. It is thought they crossed the bridge and started east immediately, of that they left the train as soon as they bridge and started east immediately, o that they left the train as soon as they finished the robbery. Kincaid think they boarded the train at St. Charles, bu

the fact that the express car door had been tampered with at Kansas City leads to the belief that the robbers might have come through from there as passenget LATER. Nothing additional has been ascertained about the express robbery this morning. It is not yet known how much money was taken from the safe, as several way bills were carried off by the robbers, but it is supposed about $12,000 is missing. No clue to the robbers.

Bosron, December 18.—The firm of John Goldsmith & Co., of this city, dealers in naval stores, is reported to have failed. Liabilities $123,000, including $20,000 as endorsed paper, upon which the firm will be obliged to pay 50 per cent. The assets are nominally $80,000, but outside of $11,000 cash the assets are said to amount to but little.

PROVIDENCE, December 18.—The Providence Tool Company states that its embarrasaments are only temporary, and do not arise from relations with the Turkish Government, which pays every week for the arms manufactured, and that there is now on deposit with the Tool Company $1,200,000 worth of guns as security for the lafiling of their contract.

The immediate cause of the susponation of the banking house of Green & Cransten, as announced to-day was caused by the failure of the Providence Tool Company, which has large contracts with the Turkish Government, for arms, to meet the maturing obligations at the bank it is supposed that a delay in an expected remittance from Turkey is at the bottom of the trouble.

Green & Granaten have made an assignment to Jas. Y. Smith. Their liabilities were announce to be $675,000, and their assets $900,000.

The Providence Tool Company, in a statement, says it has a contract to manufacture 600,000 ribles for the Turkish government, of which $20,000 are completed.

LONDON, December 20.—A Paris correspondent of the Times telegraphs that the reports of a Cabinet crisis and ministerial resignations are premature.

The owners of the blockade runner Old Dominion, in a letter to the press, say that the ship at the time Thompson is alleged to have been in command was an Englishman.

The Times says ascarch has been made, and shows Thompson's assertion that his over insured goods were to be shipped at Sou thampton is unfounded; no such suspicious insurance had been affected. The report published by the Bremen Hafer papers that another of Thompson's informal machines was on board the Saller proves false. In addition to the thorough search of her hold and cargo at Bremen Hafer before the Saller left that place, a German detective carefully examined her French and English freight while she was at Southampton and found nothing.

Moody and Sankey.

Moody and Sankey.

PHILADELPHIA, December 19.—Three immense meeting were held to-day by Moody and Sankey. Moody preached on the good effect of using the little word "no" at the proper time and Sankey sang some of his wweetes thymns. The meeting in the afternoon was for ladles. Among the distinguished persons present were Hon. Geo. Bancroft, Judge Strong, of the Supreme Court, and Sensior Christiancy, of Michigan. Mr. Moody preached from the text, "I pray thee hear my excuse," showing how many persons made an excuse for not coming to Christ. A large number of ladies arose for prayers and subsequently entered the inquiry rooms. At the evening meeting every seat was occupied 15 minutes after the doors were opened. This was caused by a rumor circulated through the day that President Grant would be present. Among those present were the President and wife, ex-Speaker Blaine, Gov. Bedle, of New Jersey, Senator Wallace, General garfield, Judge Durell, Commissioner of Patents General Robert E. Patterson, Judge Strong and many Washington newspaper correspondents. Mr. Moody declined to preach the same sermon as in the afternoon. Ex-Speaker Blaine said that Mr. Moody was the most remarkable man he had ever heard.

East of the Pilgrimage.

BUFFALO, N. Y., December 19.—The Pilgrims of St. Joseph's Cathedral numbering over 10,000 paraded the streets to day headed by Bishop Ryan and Father Crouyn, editor of the Cuiholic Union, this being the last day of the pilgrimage.

SAM FRANCISCO, December 18.—The Savage Mining Company have levied an assessment of one dollar on the share. It is reported that by the compromise effected between the California Pacific Railroad and the bondholders the management agree to bring the overland travel Crouyn, editor of the Cuiholic Union, this being the last day of the pilgrimage.

ST. PAUL, December 19.—Dispatches having been sent out from this city recently to the Eastern papers alleging that the secret service detectives who have been working up the Woolsey counterfeit case had established Woolsey in the business in order that they might achieve a reputation by working up the case afterreputation by working up the case suc-cessfully. It is deemed just to state that there is no foundation for such statements and that the detectives have had no such and that the detectives have had no such a rrangement with the criminal, and that Judge Nelson in charging the jury which canvicted Walsey stated distinctly that there were no grounds for such assertions.

Fitz John,

Washington, December 18.—The friends of Fitz John Porter say they have reasons for believing the executive au-thority will take no action on the request of General Porter for a review of his case.
